The Code encourages working collaboratively together to make a positive impact in society, while upholding Denison's values of caring, collaborating, acting with integrity and delivering results.

3. Application and Scope

If risks regarding a working environment cannot be fully eliminated, a Supplier must provide its workers with the appropriate personal protective equipment to mitigate those risks.

6.5 Whistleblower Policy

Denison seeks to identify and address any wrongdoing as early as possible, as reflected in its Whistleblower Policy. Denison expects its Suppliers to provide its workforce with information about where concerns can be reported, and any protections a Worker is entitled to pursuant to relevant laws.

7. Data Protection and Information Security

Denison aims to ensure that appropriate measures are put in place to protect information and minimise the risk of damage via its IT Policies.

Denison also requires Suppliers to adhere to all relevant data protection laws and requirements while handling any personal data for Denison. This adherence ensures that personal data processed by the Supplier or on behalf of Denison is managed legally and responsibly.

Suppliers are required to implement suitable safeguards to maintain the integrity and confidentiality of all information, which includes any data provided by or associated with Denison, across all storage forms, be it physical or digital. This ensures that Denison's information remains secure and private, mitigating risks of unauthorized access and breaches concerning data disclosure.

The Supplier must:

- Ensure its operations are compliant with all applicable environmental laws. This includes addressing critical environmental concerns like climate change, waste management, emissions, and the safe handling of hazardous materials, while also adhering to Denison's environmental policies and ESG (Environmental, Social, and Governance) policies.
- The Supplier must implement a robust environmental management system to effectively identify and manage the Supplier's environmental risks.

10. Unfair Business Practices

A Supplier must comply with all applicable competition laws including but not limited to those relating to collusion and information sharing with competitors, price fixing and rigging bids.

11. Procuring and Managing Representatives

Denison will evaluate a Supplier's adherence to this section based on factors such as transaction risk, and the potential consequences of non-compliance.

Suppliers are required to conduct comprehensive due diligence on prospective Representatives to ensure alignment with Denison's supply chain standards. Suppliers are expected to implement monitoring mechanisms to ensure Representatives uphold the values outlined in this Code and establish procedures to address any instances of non-compliance, and report any non-compliance to Denison.

12. Training

Suppliers must implement compliance training programs and maintain records of attendance by their workers. These records must be provided to Denison upon request.

13. Self-Monitoring and Reporting Breaches

The Supplier is responsible for regularly reviewing its adherence to this Code and must promptly report any actual or suspected violations to Denison.

14. Breach, Remediation, and Termination

If a breach of this Code by the Supplier or a Representative comes to Denison's attention, Denison may opt to either terminate its relationship with the Supplier immediately or request a corrective action plan. Failure to provide or implement such an action plan to Denison's satisfaction could lead to contract termination.

Should a Representative be in breach of this Code, Denison may end its association with the Supplier (e.g. by terminating any contract between Denison and the Supplier) and/or demand rectification regarding the Representative's misconduct.
